

ISOMETRIX

ESG Conference

The IsoMetrix ESG Conference provides an unmissable opportunity to gain detailed insights into recent trends in the disciplines of governance, environmental & social responsibility, and health & safety.

IsoMetrix has gained recognition as a global leader in the provision of software for managing material risks and non-financial reporting aspects. Exciting recent developments will enable us to maintain our growth trajectory and entrench our status as a leader in this space.

Guest speakers will be sharing their success stories and thought leadership in different areas of ESG, including digitalization, safety culture and market trends. This is a unique opportunity to engage with global experts and network with industry peers.

This one-day conference takes place in the spectacular Porsche Experience Center and includes a complimentary private tour of the museum, making it an extra special day to remember.

If you'd like to be part of this exceptional day and unlock new opportunities for you and your business, please register on the IsoMetrix website.

13:00 Lunch

14:00 Stuart Neumann: Verdantix, Director

New Paradigm Emerges for EHS and Sustainability

In the last ten years, leaders in EHS and Sustainability have been forced to confront a number of disruptive trends including new regulations, the shift to digital and the growth in social media. In many cases, this has prompted a wholesale re-evaluation of the purpose, focus, structure and objectives of the functions. Looking ahead, automation and the whole theme of industry 4.0 will trigger even greater changes in organizations and this will have major impacts on EHS and Sustainability. This presentation will explore these themes and will identify the five steps EHS and Sustainability leaders must take today to keep their functions relevant to the business.

14:30 Panel Discussion

15:15 John Castner: IsoMetric, North America CEO
